

— Bob Paulson's — Photography in Natural Settings

Navigating PINS Website:

- 1) Clicking on the various Buttons on your screen will take you to the item indicated, sometimes via a newly opened web window and sometimes in the same window.
- 2) When a Thumbnail photo is visible on a page, hovering your mouse pointer over it will immediately turn the pointer into a hand. If you left-click the photo it will either take you to a larger view of the photo or, if it represents a group of photos, it will open the collection and show you more photos.
- 3) If your pointer is hovering over a midsized photo, in a second an options menu will pop out on its left. Hovering over an option will tell you what is available, and clicking it will take you there. If you simply click the medium sized photo it will bring up the largest version of the photo.
- 4) If you are already seeing a photo's greatest enlargement, one of two things could happen. If it is part of a "Slide Show," hovering for a couple seconds will bring up the controls for starting and stopping it. If you are looking at an enlarged individual photo, hovering for a couple seconds will bring up a set of options, such as Add to Collection (so you can save it for later viewing and/or purchase).
- 5) If you choose to order a print or digital download, simply follow the obvious links and you will get several options in terms of print / digital, photo size, matting, framing, or simply ordering a print by itself. It is all quite simple. Experiment a little. You can always back up.
- 6) If you want to purchase something, you can do so directly from this website with credit card or via PayPal. If you have questions for me, feel free to go to click the Contacts button and either call or email me directly. I'd be happy to hear from you.

Enjoy the photos.

And, remember, when you come back for another visit you will be able to see some of the more recently uploaded photos by going to the Recently Added folder.